Resources Provided by the State Bar of Michigan in Support of Committee Work:

Staff support, telephone conferencing and printing educational materials

Committee Activities:

The committee continued its work in prevention and remediation of the unauthorized practice of law. Recent prevention activities have concentrated on the preparation of brochures intended for the general public and other licensed professionals in specific areas explaining the value added by the participation of qualified attorneys and the risk of harm caused by unqualified providers. The first areas targeted are real estate, immigration, and probate and estate planning. The committee chair has also been involved in developing material to help administrators of libraries, senior centers, and similar facilities to determine whether an “educational program” is really a cover for sales of unauthorized services. Many victims of UPL were recruited through such programs. Former chair John Anding and committee members Kim Warren Eddie, Steve Gobbo, and Josh Ard presented a description of UPL activities to the Representative Assembly in September. In April, Steve Gobbo presented a proposal that the Representative Assembly adopted to provide resources to continue the preventive, educational mission. Josh Ard gave an overview of current UPL challenges and successes, following the State of the Judiciary speech by Chief Justice Taylor, where UPL was one of his topics. Litigation efforts have continued. One injunction was obtained in Kent County Circuit Court and litigation is continued in other cases. The committee wishes to thank former Bar staff members Catherine O’Connell and Victoria Kremiski, who worked closely on UPL matters. The Bar expects to hire replacements soon. The committee has also been investigating proposals for changes in statutes and court rules that would facilitate the goal of protecting the public from the unauthorized practice of law. No consensus has yet been reached.

Future Goals and Activities:

Expand educational activities, taking a more creative, pro-active, public educational role in addressing the unauthorized practice of law. Continue working with the SBM Governmental Relations department to identify any appropriate legislative and other legal remedies.
